Location & surrounding area:

Santa Gertrudis de Fruitera is a charming village which is lively both during the day and in the evening with its bars, cafés and restaurants. Here you can find everything from delicious ‘bocadillos de jamón’ (toasted bread with ham) to avant-garde cuisine, such as in the Bar Costa. Surrounded by fruit trees and a very peaceful atmosphere, the village is a real delight. In addition, there are numerous shops for clothing and leather goods, and art galleries which are open all year round. The proximity to the Morna public school is also an added advantage for families, as is the excellent medical care. The village church, a historical landmark, was consecrated in 1797.
